Made by C.D.I. Sih Tse-liang. Forwarded by

With reference to the attached memo., inquiries made by the staff of this section have failed to locate the Sino-Japanese Lien Nyi Society and the Japanese Language Research Association.

Mr. Yui Han-vung (), who is reported to be the Chairman of the Sino-Japanese Lien Nyi Society and to have proposed the formation of the Japanese Language Research Association, is the principal of the Dong Tsing Japanese Language Supplementary School, No.11 West Lane, off Haining Road. During March of this year he proceeded to Japan to study education and returned to Shanghai on June 1. Therefore the convention of the first preparatory meeting of the Japanese Language Research Association on May 31, as mentioned in the attached memo., cannot be regarded as authentic.

The Dong Tsing Japanese Language Supplementary School, No.11 West Lane, off Haining Road, was established about eleven years ago, and was registered with the Bureau of Education in 1930. It has three classes - morning, afternoon, and evening - which are attended by about 90 students. The faculty consists of 2 Europeans, 2 Japanese and four Chinese.

The principal, Mr. Yui Han-vung, native of Chekiang, aged 32, is a graduate of the Tung Wen College, Siccawei. After his graduation in 1926, he established the above mentioned school. Shortly afterwards he went to Japan where he studied political science in the University of Japan for two years. During his absence, one Zia Chung Tsuh (謝君德) looked after the school on his behalf. Upon his return, he continued to be the principal. Up to the present nothing has occurred which might suggest that he is in any way interested in or connected
